One Day Seminar on "Eco-feminism and the Epics"

The Vidya Vistar Scheme (V2Scheme) is an initiative of the University of Delhi to establish academic linkages between its Colleges and Departments with the corresponding institutes in remote areas of the country. With an intention to fulfill the objective Hindu College under Delhi University has partnered with 03 colleges of North-East India; Nar Bahadur Government College, Tadong, Sikkim; Dorjee Khandu Government College Tawang, Arunachal Pradesh and North Kamrup College, Baghmara, Assam. The main purpose of Vidya Vistar Scheme is to establish academic, cultural, social and interpersonal exchanges in the remote areas with the upcoming educational institutions across the country.

North Kamrup College, Baghmara has started off with its maiden blended/hybrid venture of organising a one day seminar on “Eco-feminism and the Epics” on 21-12-2022. Dr. Ananya Barua, Assistant Professor, Department of Philosophy and Nodal Officer of V2S Scheme was the resource person for the event. Prof. Archana Barua, retired professor, Department of HSS, IIT Guwahati was the Guest of Honour in the occasion. The event was started at 11.00 am with the recitation of Saraswati Vandana by Kukumoni Sarmah, Assistant Professor, Department of Assamese, North Kamrup College. Dr. Minakshi Das, Nodal Officer, V2S North Kamrup College started the programme by welcoming all. Prof. Reena Jain, Vice Principal, Hindu College opened the session with her welcome address along with the team of the core committee of V2S and other esteemed colleagues and students across and from the other partnering colleges joined online. The program was followed by the lecture of Dr. Ananya Barua who spoke on “Eco-feminism and the Epics”. In her lecture she described mainly about the role of ecofeminism in the great epic Ramayana. By refereing Mahapurush Sankardeva; she said human being cannot survive alone on earth.

Along with human being all other elements of nature are equally important. She highlighted the concept of Prakriti of Samkhya Philosophy and drew parallel lines between women and nature. Highlighting the character of Urmila, Sita and Ahalya she through her lecture revisited the victimization of these female characters and reminded us of the brutal consequences nature has to undergo due to the atrocities of human. She emphasized upon the translated versions of the Ramayana rooted in the North-eastern states of India. Dr. Barua explained the role of Sita in all these versions of Ramayana. She thus highlighted the role of Sita in the Ramayana translated by Mahapurush Sankardeva where Sita is depicted as a strong lady. This lecture programme encouraged the students as well as the teachers to rethink our attitude towards nature and women, and make necessary revisions in it towards both of them, for better future and existence. Prof. Archana Barua, retd. Professor, Department of HSS, IIT Guwahati was invited as the Guest of Honour in this prestigious programme. Prof. Barua talked about the globalization and the alienation of youth from the mother earth resulting in a chaotic society. Her brief yet highly intellectual speech on the above theme made the deliberation highly successful. The Principal, North Kamrup College forwarded his presidential remark and thanked Hindu College for the opportunity. The programme was received with admiration by the students and faculty members of the College. The event was ended with an interactive session and vote of thanks by Dr. Gutimali Goswami, Assistant Professor, Department of English, North Kamrup College, Baghmara, Bajali, Assam.

REPORT ON ONE DAY WORKSHOP ON RESEARCH METHODOLOGY

REPORT

In the morning, Principal Dr. Jyotiraj Pathak hoisted the flag of North Kamrup College. The workshop started at 10:30 am. Inaugural address was given by Dr. Nibeni Bezbarua, Associate Professor, Dept. of Assamese, <sup>followed by lighting of lamp by Dr. Jyotiraj Pathak</sup>. The inaugural session was presided by the Principal Dr. Jyotiraj Pathak. The felicitation programme was conducted by Dr. Minakshi Das, MEd, Dept. of Philosophy. Dr. Jagadish Chandra Kalita, Coordinator, Workshop Organizing Committee gave a lecture by briefing on the workshop where he also explained the flow chart of the research methodology.

In the plenary session - I, resource person Dr. J. Pathak spoke on the topic 'Ethics and Research'. He at first, explained what do we mean by research and also then what do we mean by ethics. Then he explained that ~~that~~ now-a-days some unethical things are happening in research activities which are not at all good signs. So, by any means these things should be checked and everybody should try to stop these kinds of activities for the sake of the purity of research.

In the second plenary session resource person Dr. Parag Barman, Assistant Professor, Dept. of Economics, Bhattarai University, Bajali discussed elaborately on the topic 'Collection of data, Analysis and Presentation'. Here he discussed about the collection of data, types of data, various methods of collection of data, problems of data collection and analysis of data. After analysis how these data can be presented in tabular, diagrammatical form etc. were also discussed. Overall this session was an effective one. After Barman's presentation a question-answer session was held where many participants put their queries and the resource person gave answers.

After lunch the 3rd plenary session entitled 'Research in Social Science: Concepts, Methods and Challenges in Research' was taken by Dr. Madan Chandra Boro, Associate Professor & HOD, Dept. of Pol. Science, Registrar (i/c) of K.B.V.S. & A.S. University, Nalbari. He discussed how social science researches differ from basic science researches, features of social sciences, what are the various methods of research, selection of research method and what are the challenges faced by the researchers etc. were discussed very clearly.

Dr. Sangita Bharati, Assistant Professor, Dept. of Pol. Science of N.K. College, Baghmara delivered her presentation in the 4th and final plenary session of the workshop. Her area of discussion was 'Literature Review in Social Science Research'. ## Lecture Programme on Indian Knowledge System

Report of the event:

A lecture programme was organized by IQAC, North Kamrup College on 13th May, 2023 on the topic 'Indian Knowledge System'. Dr. Dilip Sarma, Former Head of Department of Sanskrit, B.B. Kishan College, Jalah was invited as the resource person of the programme. The aim of the programme was to discuss about the relevance of Indian Knowledge System in present day context.

The programme was inaugurated by Dr. Pankaj Kalita, Co-ordinator, IQAC, North Kamrup, College, Baghmara at 12.30 pm at Conference Hall of the College, which was followed by the inaugural speech by the Principal of the College, Dr. Jyotiraj Pathak. After the inaugural speech, the resource person delivered the lecture on the topic.

The speaker started the speech elaborating the nature of Indian Knowledge. He highlighted that as per Sankhya Philosophy, knowledge can be attained through Perception, Inference and Testimony. However, perception and inference can be misleading. So, as a source of valid knowledge, one can consider testimony. The speaker also gave a background of how traditional knowledge was imparted in Ashramas and how people in ancient India used their knowledge of Ayurveda to treat minor health problems in their day-to-day life. Lastly, the speaker talked about how going back to roots through NEP, 2020 will enrich the value of Indian knowledge system. The programme was ended with vote of thanks offered by Dr. Pankaj Kalita, Co-ordinator, IQAC, North Kamrup College.

The programme was attended by 13 faculty members and the principal of the college.
